

2009 ISU AMS Severe Weather Awareness Poster Contest Winners

Several members of the Iowa State University Student Chapter of the American Meteorological Society (ISU AMS) took an evening to view and judge the over 200 posters that were received from Kindergarten through Sixth grade students from throughout the state of Iowa. Multiple sorts of writing mediums were used including markers, colored pencils, crayons, and even glitter markers! Many rhyming and catch phrases were used to grab our attention and promote severe weather awareness, some of which included:

“Don’t let Twisters Twist You!”

“Flooding, Yuck Just my Luck”

“Hey Bud, Get Out of the Flood”

“Don’t Blow Away! Prepare Today”

The members of the ISU AMS could tell that students took time to complete their drawings, come up with their phrases, and find facts on severe weather. We considered this year’s contest a great success and look forward to seeing even more posters next year!

Look for information on the 2010 Severe Weather Awareness Contest in early 2010!

Now, let’s get to this year’s winners!!

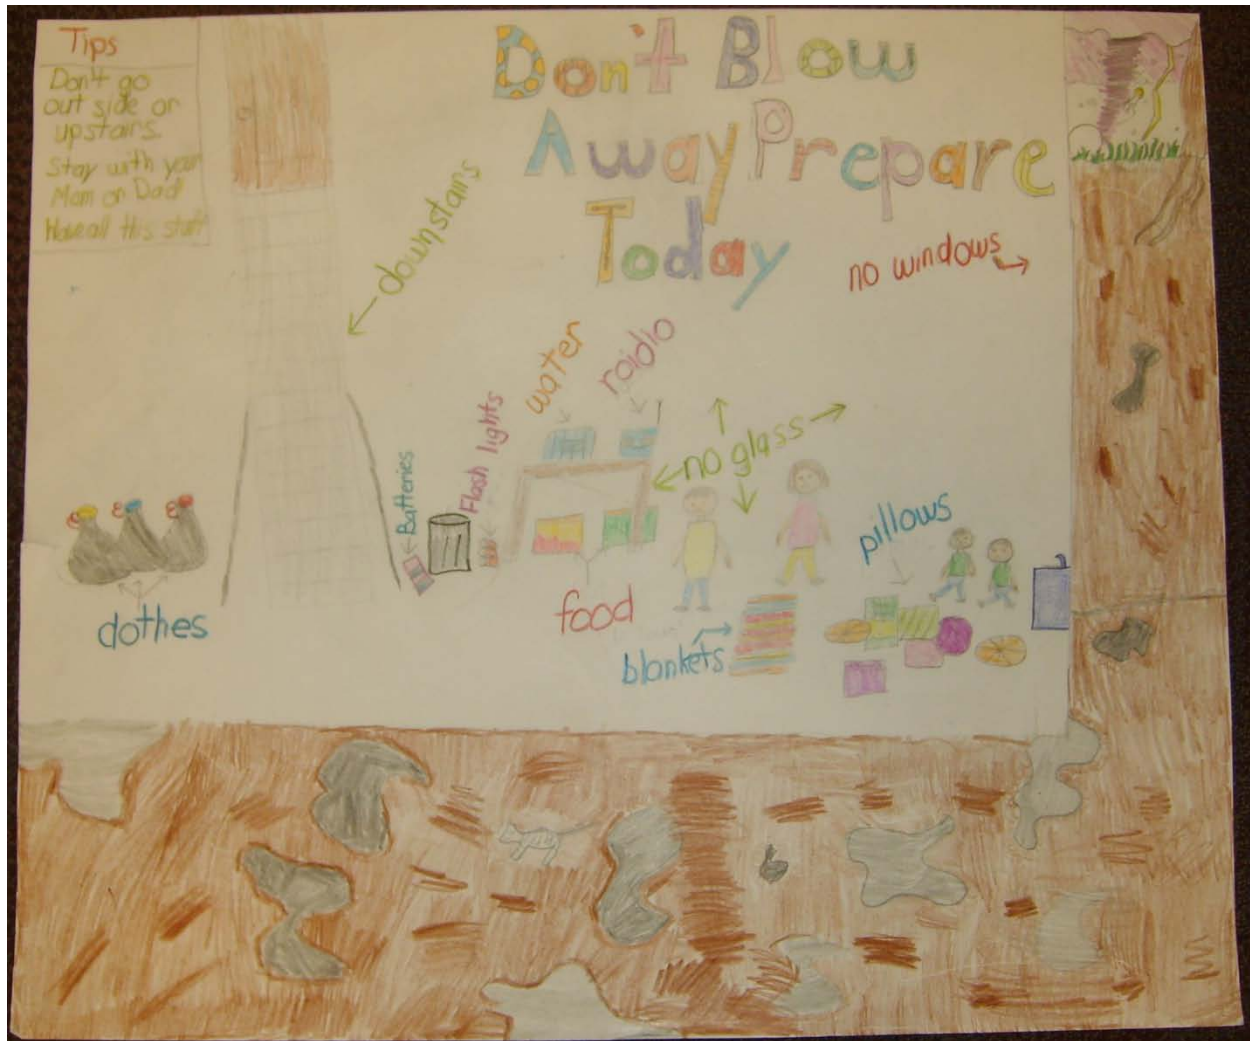

First prize winners in each category will receive a NOAA Weather Radio, a 2009 ISU AMS Weather Calendar, an Iowa State Meteorology window cling, and their winner’s certificate!

Honorable mention winners in each of the categories will receive a 2009 ISU AMS Weather Calendar, an Iowa State Meteorology window cling, and an honorable mention certificate!

Kindergarten to Third Grade

First Prize

Alex Zumbach (3rd Grade) from West Delaware, Lambert Elementary

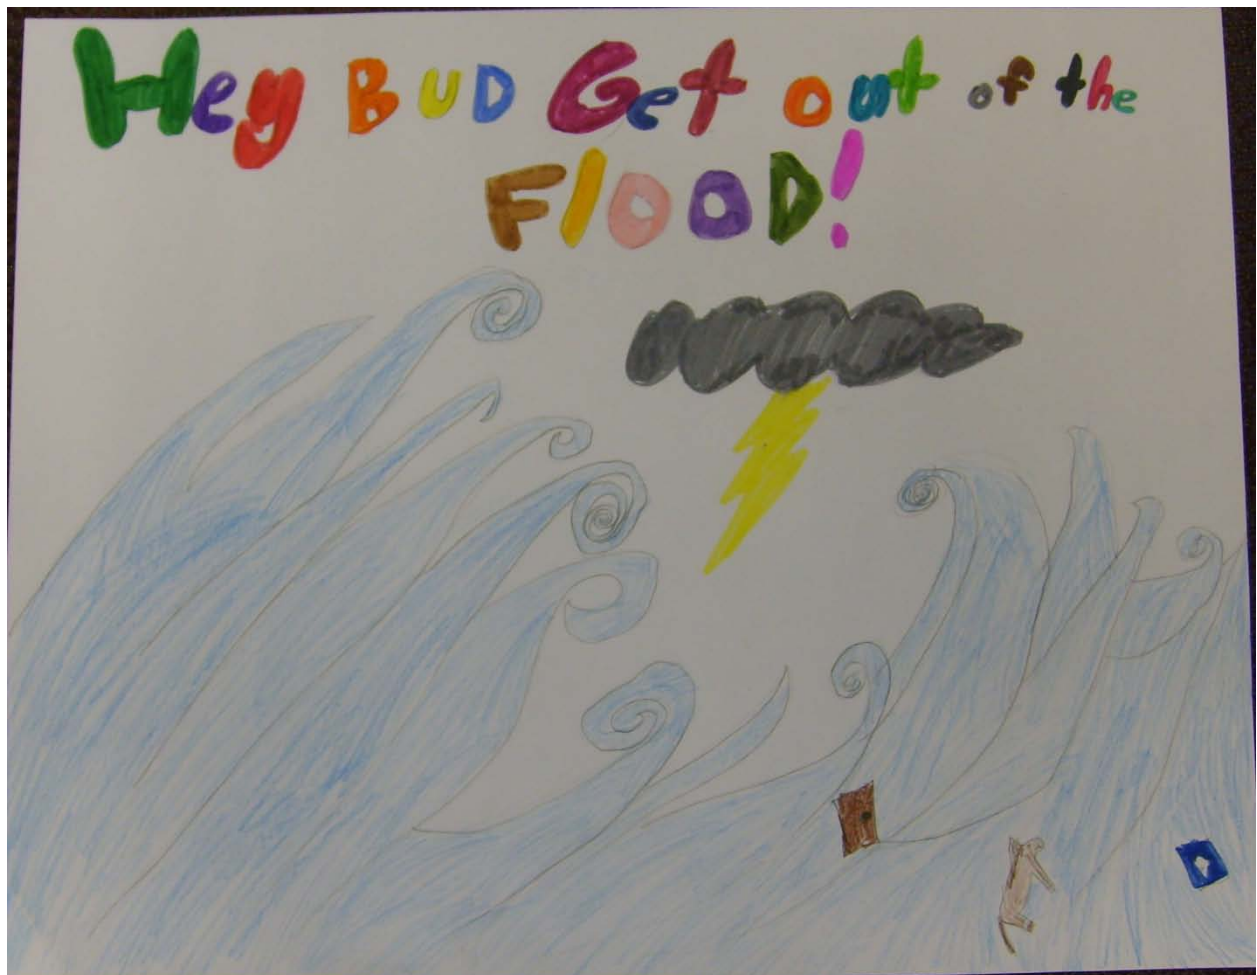

Honorable Mention

Ben Frazee (3rd Grade) from Glenwood Elementary

Honorable Mention

Leah Meinders (3rd Grade) from North Iowa Christian Schools

Honorable Mention

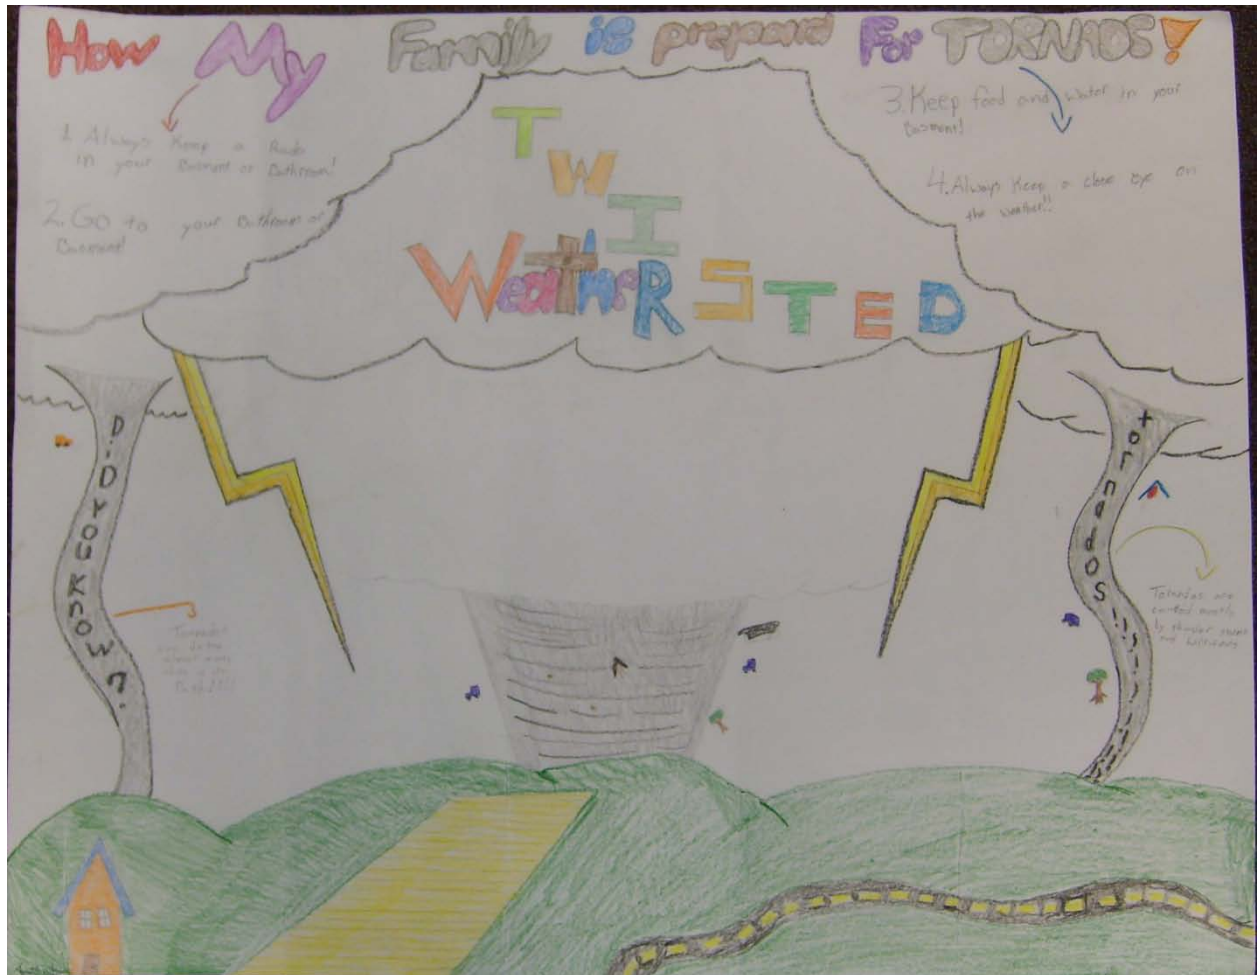

Ashlynn Klein (2nd Grade) from Hampton-Dumont Elementary

Fourth to Sixth Grade

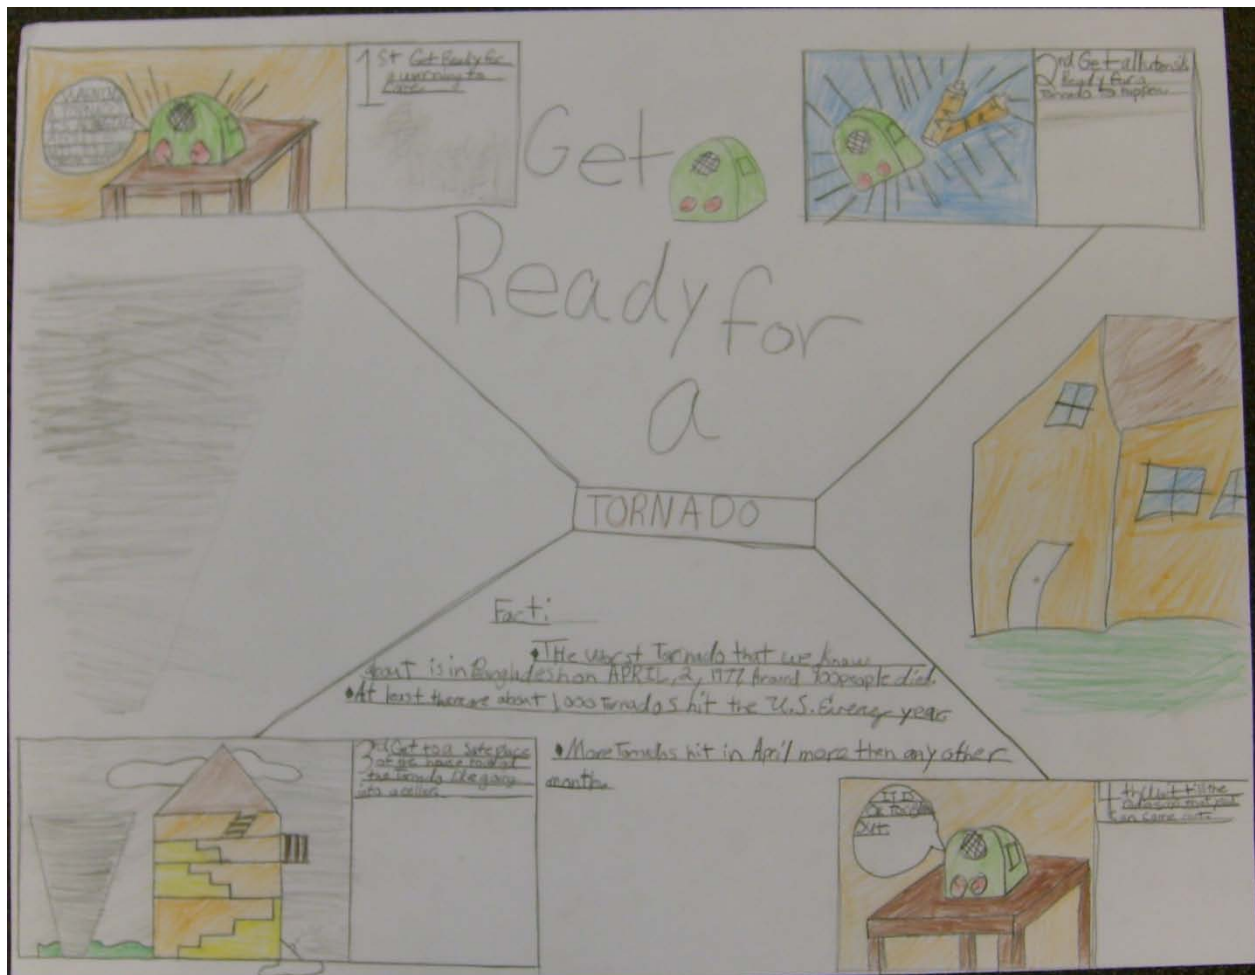

First Place

Tristin Wilson (6th Grade) from Logan-Magnolia Elementary

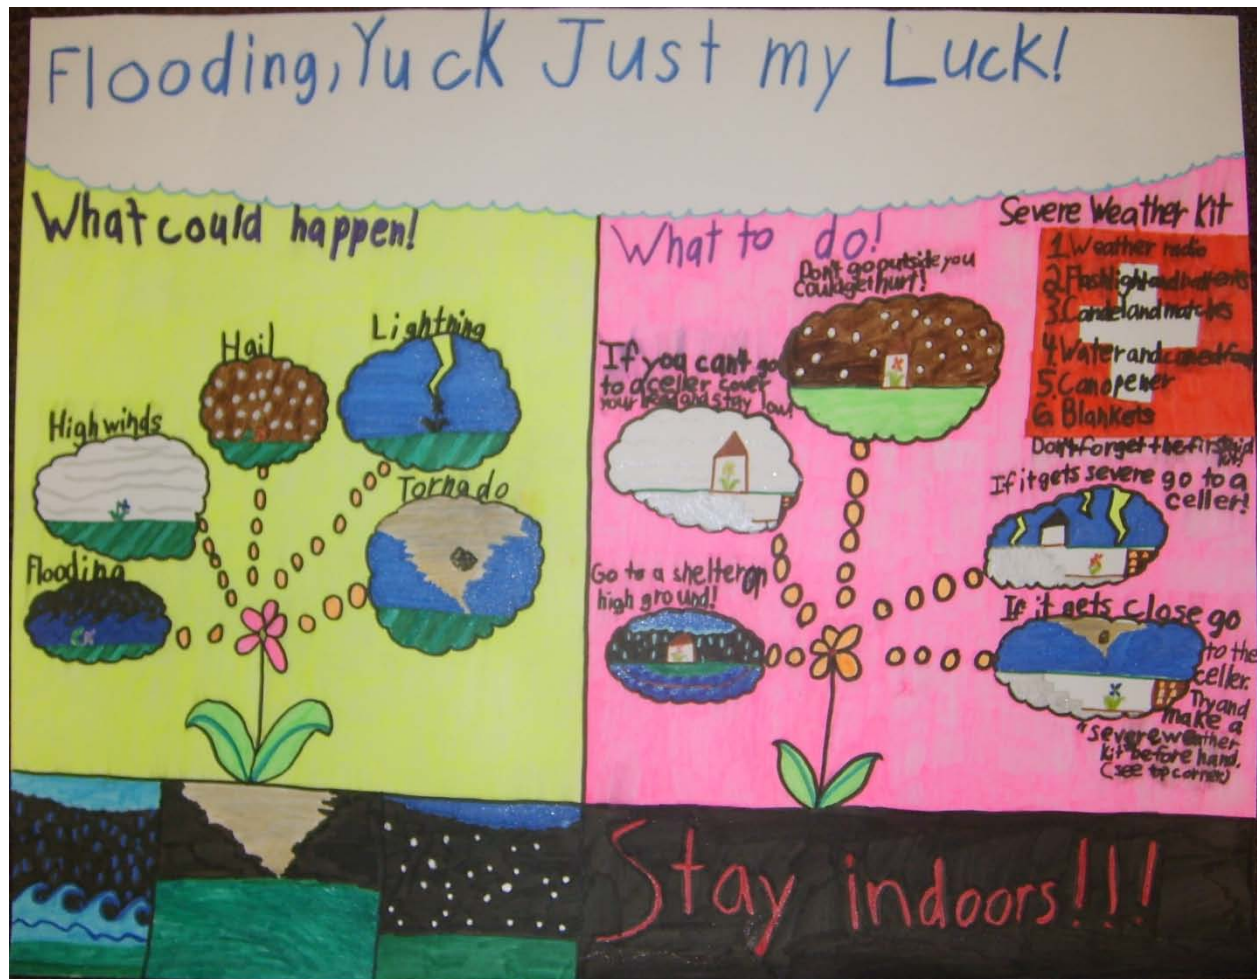

Honorable Mention

Chase Guerdet (4th Grade) from Dubuque Community Schools

Honorable Mention

Darby Rand (6th Grade) from Logan-Magnolia Elementary

Honorable Mention

Taylor Riegler from Dubuque Community Schools

